This week is General Synod for our denomination, as 2600 people are registered at this first ever online event! About 700 of them are delegates, but the rest are people from around the country who want to be part of it. General Synod happens every two years, and is the ultimate governing body for our Church. It is a chance for leaders of the church from around the country to gather together, but due to Covid, we are doing so online.

The worship services are open to the public, including the one this Sunday night the 18th at 6 PM! Look for the Zoom link at UCC.org!

Part of the work of General Synod is to consider resolutions that have been brought before the body. As we consider these resolutions, we remember that the Synod does not speak for the churches of the United Church of Christ, but to the churches. One resolution that we considered the very first night of Sunday was the resolution to define racism as a public health crisis. A number of proponents of this resolution spoke eloquently about how racism is not just a personal issue between people in our country, but something that affects the structures of our society. There is no doubt that racism affects the health of so many people of color in our society, and so it was good to have this be highlighted at our Synod as we overwhelmingly passed this resolution.

We also listen to inspiring speakers at Synod, and the keynote speaker on Monday night was Valerie Kaur. She is a social justice activist who leads campaigns for civil and human rights. She challenged all of us to be part of communities of revolutionary love, and based this call on our spiritual heritage. As a Sikh, she is called to this kind of love, and we all know that Jesus calls us to this kind of love as well. What would it be like, she asked, if all UCC churches were known as communities of revolutionary love, love that not only reached out to others, but to opponents as well? Her inspiring story and words gave all of us much to think about!

Faithfully yours,
Paul

From hip-hop flow to Pentecostal outpouring, water theme energizes worshipers

by Hans Holznagel | published on Jul 15, 2021

In the logo of the United Church of Christ’s 2021 General Synod, water flows by the roots of a tree. That water was the focus of the Synod’s midweek worship service July 14. Images of moving and still water flowed through the internet and into viewers’ homes, carried over a riverbed of changing music. Leaders invited worshipers to fill a pitcher with water, and later led them in a hand-washing ritual.

And water showed up repeatedly in the video experience. It cleansed and sustained. And it symbolized two other themes of the service: resilience and resistance.

Traci Blackmon: Embrace the power of the WE in the UCC

by Connie Larkman | published on Jul 12, 2021

As the Rev. Traci Blackmon asked for the blessing and support of the General Synod to continue in her role as Associate General Minister, she spoke about the work of the “We.” The “We” the church must be to effectively follow God’s call.

What can we do to prevent sickness in our churches?

As our churches head back inside, and as the cold weather approaches, this article about portable air cleaners and masking will be very relevant to many. HEPA air cleaners consist of a filter capable of removing ≥99.97% of particles from the air and a fan or blower to draw air through the filter. HEPA air cleaners are commercially available, relatively inexpensive, and easy to use!

The Peacemakers' Pulpit- July 2021

Dave Ransom

As veterans we are sometimes approached by a person who says, "Thank you for your service." We may reply, "Thank you. If you really want to thank me, please write down what you do to create peace."

Creating peace is scorned, blocked by laws, avoided. Few religious groups are named “peace”. We have an opportunity now to create peace though Black Lives Matter. A friend and I recently swapped stories of working with the men who murdered others... and later reconciled. His story was of two men, one Black, one White. The Black man murdered White men. The White man, a Ku Klux Klansman, murdered Black men. My story was of a man, drunk, propped up on a lamp post, with a gun placed in his hand by his “friends” who had robbed the store. The first paid, the White Man and the Black Man, hated each other; in chains, they were led to be able to talk, then meet socially as friends. My guy began as inmate’s pre-release program and eventually worked for the State, with juveniles. Pease through the use of the tongue. Today, war veterans are returning to lands where they murdered men, women, and children, are well received, cry and hug a lot, help with flood relief and schools for the survivors.

All guys, right? Julia Ward Howe was born in New York City in 1819. Julia wrote the non-commercialized version of the “Mothers’ Day Proclamation”, yes, as well as the “Battle Hymn of the Republic”. Julia’s version of the proclamation would have all the mothers of the world meet on a particular day each year to share how best to create peace. The “Battle Hymn..” envisions an army of pacifists armed with love-in-action.

In Vermont we have created “Indigenous People’s Day”. We can re-create Julia’s version of “Mothers’ Day”. We can return “Veterans Day” to “Armistice Day”. We can put them all to work, rather than submit to the blood/sugar lobby. Mom? Sis?

United Church of Thetford featured on VPR!!

"When Erika Hoffman-Kiess first heard about people applauding for frontline workers in big cities, she didn’t think that would work so well in her town of Thetford. “There are some places in Vermont where you can go outside your door and bang a pot and pan and nothing’s going to happen because nobody hears you,” she said. “But we do have a lot of churches.”

And those churches have bells."

The Second Marathon: A Thought For Pastors On Walking the New Normal

by Jenny Smith

" I'm hearing this refrain in every corner of my pastor world. Today felt like a day to name it out loud.

Pastors are tired. On a soul level.

It's tempting to think we can solve it with a few days off. But we know we can't.

This is bigger than individuals.

This is systemic.

The oppressive thing about capitalism and consumerism (and white supremacy culture, for that matter), is our utter inability to listen to our need to rest. More on that in a moment.

But first, my brother runs marathons. It's amazing to see the training and preparation that goes into this accomplishment. I ran 20 minutes without stopping a year or two ago and it felt like I crossed the finish line at the Olympics! I cannot even imagine what it feels like to run for 26.2 miles and feel absolutely depleted at the end.

Well, maybe my soul does know that feeling. Maybe yours does too.

We just ran a marathon."

2021 Clergy Convocation Registration is OPEN!!!

Monday, Oct 4th – Wednesday, Oct 6th
At The Craftsbury Outdoor Center
(note the NEW location)

Theme: “Leaning Into Change When We Don’t Know Where We Might Land”

Just like riding a bike, when the roads ahead of our communities shift, we need to both turn and lean into the turn to keep our balance. In this post-Covid season, we know we need to turn, but knowing how and which way to lean is both essential and hard to imagine when we can’t see the path ahead. This convocation is about learning how to lean into a turn in community, discerning the path together and building the muscles and practices to stay balanced and agile in the face of turns.

You can currently register at Early Bird prices, however these will go up by the end of the summer.
UCC officers: ‘Join us in prayer for our time together’

"Do not worry about anything, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God. And the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus." - Philippians 4:6-7

Each biennium the United Church of Christ gathers as the General Synod to discern the Spirit’s calling to the church in this present day. General Synod 33 will begin on July 11, 2021, with opening worship and will continue through July 18, 2021. Although General Synod convenes to conduct the business of the Church, we approach this work in a spirit of worship. In that spirit, beginning June 20 and continuing throughout Synod, we invite the entire church to join us in prayer for our gathered time together.

The Racial Justice Task Force Needs You!!

"I joined this group because I’ve come to realize that all the issues of justice are interconnected, in the spirit of Traci Blackmon’s keynote on Crossroads. My own passion is the environment, and you can't separate a healthy environment out from racial justice, since unhealthy environments have disproportionate impacts on communities of color, causing immense suffering. In the group, I appreciate the way we've explored many facets of activism around this issue, ranging from self-examination and book study, to political witness, to community collaborations, and as an activist myself, I've gained insight into the ways these different forms of racial justice advocacy all work together." - Fred Taylor

We Are All Children of God - creating intergenerational church Online, In-Person, and Hybrid
Tuesday, August 17
2:00 - 3:00 PM Eastern
Leader - Rebecca Stevens-Walter

How do we create church (not just worship) where all ages are truly invited? How do we do this online? in person? hybrid? Jesus said, "Let the little children come to me." In this directive, we are called to create church that leaves no one distanced or left out from learning about and experiencing the love of Jesus. This webinar will explore some of the opportunities churches have to engage people of all ages in the life of the community. We'll look at worship models, community standards, and safety measures meant to create space, both online and offline, for congregants to come together and practice faith in the ancient way of intentionally intergenerational community.
